

Your Father knows what you need before you ask him.
Matthew 6:8

October 21, 2009

Thank you to all who attended last night's Home & School Association General Meeting. Our guest speaker, Martha Short, from Pennsylvanians for Human Life was very informative. The program presented and the two DVDs that were shown reinforced our Catholic beliefs. The same program will be presented to our 7th and 8th graders at a later date.

Thank you to the Home & School Association for continuing to support our technology needs. Our new printer is absolutely marvelous! It has been a life saver as teachers have been able to download supportive materials during the Governor's budget crunching. However, the printer is for school use—teachers, classroom projects, and classroom assignments. Students should not be printing their assigned work in school. Please print homework assignments and homework projects at home.

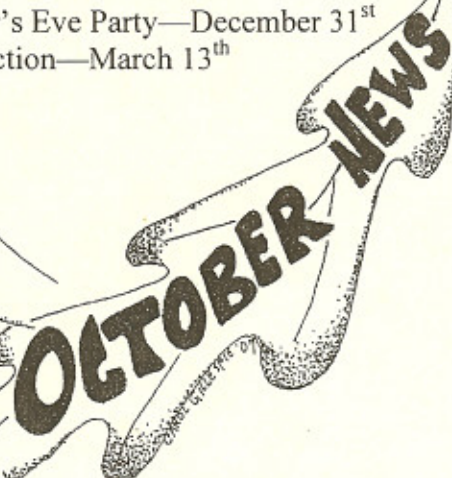

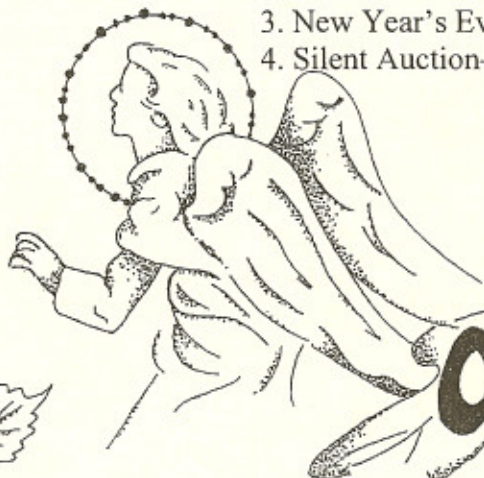

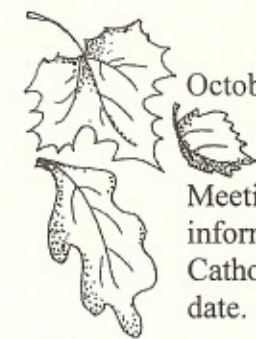

Good News—the state budget was signed and we should start getting books shortly!

Please help us all stay healthy:

- Students will not be permitted in school until they are fever free for 24 hours without being on medication.
- Review proper nose blowing procedures
- Emphasize frequent washing of hands
- When sending in bake sale items, please try to wrap the treats individually—this will be a twofold help—1. Items will not be touched by too many hands and 2. It will be less messy when the students pack the treats in their lunch boxes.

Enclosed in today's communication letter:

- Scrip order form
- Save the Dates flyer:
 1. Craft Show—November 27 and 28
 2. Breakfast with Santa—December 6th
 3. New Year's Eve Party—December 31st
 4. Silent Auction—March 13th

Enclosed in today's communication letter: (continued)

- Permission Slips for Grades K thru. 8
- "Go Falcons!!!" flyer for Grades 4-8
- Dress Down Day flyer

Reminders:

1. Kid Stuff orders and payments for books are passed due! If you are unable to purchase the book please return it to school tomorrow.
2. Individual school pictures are tomorrow, October 22. Students may dress up for pictures or wear their school uniforms. Please dress appropriately. This is not a Dress Down Day.

Thank you for all of your support.
May God bless you and your families.
